The end-year-drink

The academic year is almost over and we think a lot of things have changed in that year. The first study tour was organized and the first change in the CME board took place. This change in board led to new ideas and new energy. By this we tried to make the CME Dispuut more known by the companies and organize interesting activities for the student.

The more companies we met, the more positive reaction we got on the master CME. They see CME graduates as a solution for their problems. This is one of the things that encourages us to continue like this in the next academic year and we hope to see you again during the activities and at the CME office.

In order to finish the academic year in a good way, we organize a drink on July the first at 16.30 in PSOR. Hopefully we will see you there!

The PRC activity

We invited our main sponsor PRC and students CME of the three universities for an interactive meeting. The main topic was cost management with large infrastructure projects. Martijn Gesink and Diederik Zuiderwijk told us how to control costs before and during a construction project. Since risks play an important role in cost management, a risk management assignment is done by the 17 participating students.

After the workshop we had an informal drink in the Mekelpark, since it was such nice weather. It was a successful workshop, we have learned a lot about the practice of cost management. Therefore, we would like to thank PRC!

The year according to Jules Verlaan

Another academic year is almost ended. The third in a row of successful years. The number of students is still increasing. A year of informative courses, enthusiastic students, a productive and collaborative atmosphere between students and lecturers in formal as in informal situations (PSOR, London trip); within the faculties; and 3 universities. I am proud to say that I see an enthusiastic group of students working and collaborating with staff members to make the courses more attractive. The CME Dispuut (Study Association) is the heart of the CME Community with students with different backgrounds, but the same goal. They support each other and support novice students (rookies) too.

The M.Sc Construction Management & Engineering becomes every year more attractive to students. Students coming from the Dutch bachelor education HBO, B.Sc Civil Engineering, Architecture and Technology, Policy & Management but also international students increasingly show their interest in our program. During the M.Sc information days CME was the most visited program of all master education programs of Civil Engineering! Our M.sc is known for the extra skills technical students can learn to accomplish large (and international) projects successfully. More and more students notice that with CME you can make THE difference!

The CME study tour

The CME-Dispuut proudly presents the 2nd CME study tour.

The study tour board is organizing a trip to Barcelona during the first week of the second block of the 2010/2011 academic year (beginning of November). During this week cultural and educational interesting locations will be visited.

The aim of the trip is to get to know the new CME students and to learn from project visits. The costs of this trip are estimated at max 300 Euro per person.
